FRENCH, BELGIANS SLOW ON TROOP REMOVAL

WILL NOT TAKE THEM FROM RUHR FOR OVER A YEAR

PROBABLY NO WITHDRAWAL FROM RUHR BASIN UNTIL NEXT SUMMER

FINAL PROTOCOL WITH ALL AGREEMENTS MAY BE SIGNED FRIDAY

(By United Press)
London, Aug. 12.—All omens are favorable to a quick settlement of the terms of military evacuation of the Ruhr, after which the international conference's progress will consist of finishing up several minor loose ends, and it will conclude its work this week-end.

Meanwhile the London financial district is discussing proposed terms of the loan to Germany. It is generally concluded that the interest will be seven per cent and the issue price 93 per cent.

London, Aug. 12.—The French and Belgians will not withdraw troops from the Ruhr this year, and probably not until next summer, according to decisions reached at direct pour parlers between Herriot and the German delegation.

The international conference has left the field clear for these negotiations, which are believed to be proceeding satisfactorily. Well-informed observers expect word as to the date of evacuation by tonight.

A final protocol incorporating all agreements reached at the conference may be signed Friday. Meanwhile the Germans have begun to put out feelers to establish contact with the Anglo-American banking group regarding underwriting of the $200,000,000 loan proposed.

The council of the "Big Fourteen" proposes that two representatives of each country approve the reports of the various committees with only comparatively minor reservations.

When the French and Belgians got together on the subject of military evacuation of the occupied areas the former proposed two years as the limit within which withdrawal should be completed. The Germans suggested six months.

It is believed that the time finally decided upon will be between nine months and a year.

MANY IMMIGRANTS FOR MINNESOTA

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 12.—Minnesota is due for a great influx of immigrants within a short time, according to O. H. Smith, state immigration commissioner, today.

Agriculture in Minnesota is in prosperous condition, Smith said, and large numbers of farmers from other states can be expected to settle here.

"The days of cheap land in Minnesota are over," he said. "Land prices throughout the state are already being raised, the rise being based upon its increased productivity and profitability."

"Farmers in states both east and west of Minnesota are coming in and others are waiting to move to more prosperous districts," Smith said.

Minnesota Potato Growers Buy Warehouse at Moorhead

A large storage warehouse at Moorhead has been purchased by the Minnesota Potato Growers' Exchange of St. Paul. This plant is the largest in the section, being 202 feet long and 100 feet wide, three stories and basement, built of brick and concrete with a ventilating system which has proved effective in keeping potatoes until late spring. There is adequate storage capacity for 40 cars, and the equipment permits six cars to be unloaded at one time. Another feature is that cars may be loaded for shipment at any time regardless of weather conditions. The acquisition of this plant is considered an important step toward orderly marketing. Sixty-seven warehouses had been acquired by the first week in July.

MAGNUS JOHNSON OPENS SPEAKING TOUR IN STATE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 12.—Senator Magnus Johnson today opened a speaking tour that will take him into 34 Minnesota towns and cities by October 1. The first speech of the senator was this afternoon before the state convention of Disabled Veterans of the World War at Grand Rapids.

Representative Thomas D. Schall, Senator Johnson's opponent in the senatorial campaign, will speak from the same platform tonight.

LOEB'S AIM WAS TO BE GENTLEMAN BURGLAR, STATED

DR. H. S. HULBERT GIVES TESTIMONY IN CHICAGO TRIAL

LOEB, HAD HE ESCAPED DETENTION, WOULD HAVE WORKED GOLD COAST

(By United Press)
Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 12.—If Richard Loeb had escaped arrest for the killing of Robert Franks he would have settled down to the life of a "gentleman burglar," Dr. H. S. Hulbert testified today at the judicial hearing of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb.

State's Attorney Crowe brought out this new phase of the case when he asked the witness to give some examples of defective judgment in Loeb. The doctor gave several instances and then said: "After committing his perfect crime in the killing of Robert Franks, Loeb planned to take up the life of a gentleman burglar."

Loeb planned to pursue this new life on Chicago's Gold Coast.

Swinging to the other defendant, Nathan Leopold, Crowe asked Dr. Hulbert to give some example of his lack of judgment. The doctor said Leopold failed to make and maintain friends even as a small boy. His desire was to attend a private school instead of a public school. The continuance of this tendency was shown by his eating with an exclusive group of young men while in college.

"He also showed lack of judgment in religious matters," Dr. Hulbert said.

"You are referring now, I suppose to the fact that he was an atheist?" said Crowe.

"Well, yes, partly," the witness answered.

"Would you say that Bob Ingersoll—a very distinguished atheist—showed lack of judgment?"

"Not necessarily. Whereas Ingersoll was an original thinker, Leopold simply echoed other men's thoughts."

"Well, now, doctor, didn't Ingersoll, as a matter of fact, merely echo the original thought of Thomas Payne and Voltaire?"

Attorneys for the defense objected to this question on the ground that the witness had never examined Voltaire and was therefore an incompetent witness for this question.

Crowe argued that he had a right to know how well informed the doctor was and the court ruled the witness might answer.

MEMBERS OF FAMILIES OF SLAYERS TESTIFY

Criminal Courtroom, Chicago, Aug. 12.—Members of the millionaire Leopold and Loeb families testified this afternoon in the murder hearing of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold for the slaying of Robert Franks.

While Chief Defense Attorney Darrow characterized his questioning of the witnesses as perfunctory, the crowded courtroom sensed the drama of relatives taking direct part in the fight to save the boys from the gallows.

FIRST SOUTH DAKOTA WHEAT IN MILL CITY

BRINGS PRICES 25 PER CENT HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR

SOLD AT $1.43 TO $1.45 ON EXCHANGE, PRODUCERS GOT $1.20

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Aug. 12.—The first South Dakota wheat sold on the Minneapolis market from this year's crop brought prices about 25 per cent higher than last year.

A large consignment arriving yesterday sold at $1.43 to $1.45 a bushel on the Exchange and the producers got an average of $1.20 a bushel.

Dealers said the first important arrival showed uniform high quality and this was taken to be encouraging to shippers. The wheat was unusually free from dockage and impurities.

This is the beginning of one of the largest movements of wheat in the Northwest in many years. Production will far exceed recent years, and with quality good Northwest farmers will reap a good crop, dealers declare.

80 YOUNG GIRLS FOUND DRUNK IN RICE ST. RAIDS

MANY FROM BEST FAMILIES IN CITIES, DRY CHIEF ASSERTS

THREE ARRESTED IN EARLY MORNING AS CRUSADERS SWOOP DOWN

St. Paul, Aug. 12.—Startling disclosures of wide open moonshine joints and moral laxity among young people who frequent Rice st. chicken shacks and soft drink parlors were made by J. P. Brandt, St. Paul prohibition director, today.

Mr. Brandt reported that with deputy sheriffs he and other prohibition workers early Sunday morning raided four shacks along the road, the raids lasting from 1 to 3 a. m.

At each place between 10 and 20 young girls, most of them about 16 years old, were seen by Mr. Brandt. Many of them were drunk, he stated today, and their boy companions were in no better condition.

"It is a crime for such places to be allowed to conduct business," Mr. Brandt declared heatedly today.

"The worst part of it all is that the girls we saw in such a deplorable condition were mostly the daughters of the best families in town. Their parents undoubtedly are not aware of the slippery downward path their daughters are treading."

"The girls in these places probably did not realize the thin ice they were treading on," Mr. Brandt continued. "When they were told that the dry agents were raiding the place many of them swooned."

SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST FATHER

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 12.—Major Charles A. Davis, prominent fraternal insurance man, is held by police while his daughter, Mabel, 20, is believed dying at Ancker hospital from an alleged illegal operation.

The girl, according to Chief of Police Ed Murnane, charged her father with having performed the operation and with having been responsible for her condition. She and her father have been living together in a local hotel since her mother divorced him 12 years ago. No charge has been placed against Davis, pending the outcome of the girl's condition.

BOY KILLED AT GOLF CLUB IN CAR ACCIDENT

(By United Press)
Waukesha, Wis., Aug. 12.—Rodney M. Field, 14, son of Albert M. Field, university of Minnesota professor, was killed late yesterday at the Chenequa golf club near Hartland by an automobile driven by Miss Gladys Gallun, daughter of a wealthy Milwaukee tanner.

ASK INDICTMENTS BE QUASHED

MOTIONS FILED BY EDWARD L. DOHENY AND HIS SON

(By United Press)
Washington, Aug. 12.—Edward L. Doheny, lessee of the naval oil reserve No. 1 in California, and his son, E. L. Doheny, Jr., today filed motions in District of Columbia supreme court asking their indictments in the oil cases be quashed on the ground that Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor of the senate oil inquiry, made a radio speech on the oil investigation "with the intention that the grand jury members should hear his statements."

The petition cited Senator Walsh's speech in full and declared Walsh intended that the jurors "listening in on radio receiving sets should hear his statements."

Walsh's speech reviewed the whole oil scandal case and analyzed the testimony, mentioning the Dohenys names. The Dohenys were indicted by the grand jury for conspiracy with Albert B. Fall to defraud the government in the leasing of the reserve and for offering a bribe to Fall.

POLICE WOMEN OF THE MESABA

SUCH AN ORGANIZATION IS URGED BY MRS. LYDIA PRITCHARD

(By United Press)
Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 12.—An organization of police women of the Mesaba range was urged today by Mrs. Lydia Pritchard, Hibbing policewoman, when range police officials met at Esquagana Lake.

Range police women handle many juvenile cases, it was pointed out, and coordination in their work would be of great benefit. C. L. Everett, county probation officer, addressed the police women's meeting.

Bakers End Strike

Paris, Aug. 12.—Breadless Paris breathes a sigh of relief. Hundreds of bakery workers, who went on strike for increased wages, have returned to work. Their pay has been raised and so has the price of bread.

BIG SHAFT FIRE ENDANGERS LIVES OF MESABA MINERS

(By United Press)
Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 12.—Scores of underground ore miners narrowly escaped death or serious injury late last night as fire of undetermined origin consumed the shaft of the Larue mine here.

Miners working on the 300-foot level were led through a labyrinth of passageways and escaped through a rear entrance unharmed. Other employees took other routes to escape the flames. The roar of the flames having frightened them, a few miners made a hazardous path through the shaft enveloped in flames.

Mine officials placed the loss well up in the hundreds. More than 200 miners were thrown out of employment as a dense sickening smoke remains in the interior of the mine, although the fire has been extinguished.

FIVE NON-UNION MINERS SHOT FROM AMBUSH

NONE OF WORKERS AT WILBURTON, OKLA., SERIOUSLY INJURED

FEELING IN MINING COMMUNITY IS A VERY TENSE ONE

(By United Press)
Wilburton, Okla., Aug. 12.—Five non-union miners were shot from ambush in the coal fields near here early today. None of the workers was seriously injured.

The shooting occurred shortly after the night shift of workmen left the Bull Hill mine. The five men were walking home when a blare of buckshot felled them.

Feeling in the mining community was tense and extra guards were stationed at the Latimer courthouse, where 36 men were scheduled to be tried for riot in connection with the clash between union and non-union forces near here a month ago. At this time 100 armed strikers drove 200 non-union workers out of the county.

SLIGHTLY IMPROVED WEATHER REPORTED IN ICY GREENLAND

GIVES HOPE THAT YANKEES MAY RESUME WORLD FLIGHT

CRUISER RALEIGH TAPS THE ICE FIELD AND DAMAGES PROPELLER

(By United Press)
Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 12.—A slight improvement in weather conditions as reported from the east coast of Greenland gave rise to hope today that the American world flight soon would be under way once more.

However, the cruiser Raleigh, having slightly damaged its starboard propeller on the ice in a dense fog 90 miles southeast of Angmagssalik, was last reported proceeding cautiously through the floes, awaiting clear weather.

It was said that while the Gertrude Rask, the Danish supply ship, might make Angmagssalik—the port the fliers intend to visit next—it was doubtful if the icebound harbor would be suitable as a base for the cruisers Raleigh and Richmond and the world flight planes.

HOPE TO HOP OFF ON NEXT LAP THURSDAY

On Board the U. S. Richmond, Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 12.—The American fliers hope to hop off Thursday for Angmagssalik, Greenland, on the next lap of their around-the-world flight.

A wireless received today from the Danish ship Gertrude Rask, which is to serve as supply ship for the fliers, said she had broken thru the ice in the bay of Angmagssalik today and that the waters are now open. This assures the fliers of a landing place.

The two American aviators here, Lieut. Lowell Smith and Lieut. Erick Nelson, were jubilant when the word was received. They have been here for about a week.

BULL KILLS S. D. CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Vermillion, S. D., Aug. 12.—A. S. Anderson, dirt farmer candidate for the gubernatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket, was gored to death by a bull on his farm, seven miles north of here.

Anderson went to the pasture to bring home the cows, and when he was overdue his hired man investigated, finding his mangled body.

DAVIS TO PROBE INTERNAL REVENUE DEPARTMENT SOON

(By United Press)
Detroit, Mich., Aug. 12.—Earl Davis of Detroit, who recently resigned as assistant attorney-general of the United States, has been chosen chief counsel of the senatorial committee appointed to investigate the internal revenue department, it was announced here today by Senator James Couzens, chairman.

Davis will leave for Washington Thursday to begin his work. He will make a preliminary report to the committee at its next meeting.

FORD MAY RUN FOR SENATE ON G. O. P. TICKET

SECRETARY OF STATE OF MICHIGAN MAKES RULING REGARDING BALLOT

FORD CLAIMS HE IS A CANDIDATE FOR NO PUBLIC OFFICE

(By United Press)
Lansing, Mich., Aug. 12.—Henry Ford must request withdrawal of his name from the ballot by four o'clock this afternoon or he will automatically become a candidate for the republican nomination for U. S. Senator, regardless of his own desires, Charles J. Deland, secretary of state, announced today.

Certification of the list of candidates to be forwarded to county clerks for printing has been ordered by Deland.

After the list has been certified, which will be about four o'clock today, it will be impossible to withdraw any name.

Ford, who at present is at South Sudbury, Mass., is quoted in dispatches as saying he is not a candidate for any public office, but no formal withdrawal has been received here.

FORD SAYS NOTHING

South Sudbury, Aug. 12.—Henry Ford, through his secretary, today refused to comment on a dispatch from Lansing, Mich., to the effect that he must order his name withdrawn from the Michigan ballots or automatically become a candidate for United States senator from that state.

The secretary stated Mr. Ford had nothing to say other than a reiteration of his previous announcement that he was not to enter politics "on any ticket." He would neither admit nor deny that any instructions had been sent the Michigan secretary of state.

When asked whether his action could properly be interpreted as meaning that Ford intends to let his name remain on the ballot, the replied that anyone was free to interpret the situation as he saw it.

MAN BREAKS JAW WHEN HE FALLS OFF N. P. BRIDGE

A man by the name of Wickstrom from Superior, Wis., was brought to St. Gabriel's hospital Saturday evening suffering from a broken jaw. He and another man were walking the Soo railroad track from Vawter to the dam Saturday afternoon at about 6 o'clock when Mr. Wickstrom fell while crossing the bridge over the Northern Pacific tracks and highway, breaking his jaw and chin knocking out five teeth. He was also quite badly bruised.

He was taken to Royalton by a truck driver and from there to St. Gabriel's hospital in this city.—Little Falls Daily Transcript.

OUTLINES THE ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN

APPEALS FOR PARTY UNITY TO BRING SUCCESS IN NOVEMBER

SAYS SUPREME NEED OF HOUR IS TO RESTORE CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNMENTS

By FRASER EDWARDS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 12.—Having outlined the issues in the presidential campaign in his declaration of faith, John W. Davis, the democratic standard bearer set out today to follow up his scathing indictment of the republican administration from the hustings.

Surrounded by the friends and neighbors of his native West Virginia hills and the leaders of his party last night, Davis, in his speech accepting the nomination, took a stand squarely on the democratic platform and appealed for party unity to bring success in November and insure performance of its pledges.

He declared that the "supreme need of the hour" is to restore confidence of the people in their government, "from President Coolidge down none was spared for his lash for alleged contribution to this loss of faith through the 'gross misdeeds' of republican officials."

Davis struck boldly at the "allied forces of greed and dishonesty," condemned the "dreamy radical and the conservative" alike, called for the rigid enforcement of laws against monopolies, urged higher taxes on "swollen incomes," and demanded full due for labor and the farmers. While reserving the details for carrying out the pledges in the democratic platform he freely expressed his views on all important issues. They are in brief as follows:

Labor
The right of labor to an adequate wage earned under healthful conditions, the right to organize in order to obtain it and the right to bargain for it collectively, through agents of its own choosing, have been established after many years of struggle. They must not be impaired by injunction. Labor has a right to voice in all matters of government that directly or peculiarly affect its own rights.

Farmers
Remove tariff discriminations against the farmers. The government by doing its share toward a European settlement shall help to revive and enlarge his foreign markets. Provide active government work in assisting in the co-operative marketing movement, supply the farmers with information to aid in marketing crops. Every power of government must be exerted in times of distress.

Railroads
Adequate service of transportation at reasonable rates. It is quite as important to the railroads that the farmers should prosper as it is to the farmer that the railroads should be adequately paid for services rendered.

Taxes
A pledge of tax reduction and reform. The rates of the income tax should be further lowered in keeping the rule that those who derive from the common effort of society a greater share of its earnings than other fellows must contribute to the support of the state a proportionately larger share. A distinction will be drawn between earned and unearned incomes.

Tariff
The exorbitant rates and discriminatory provisions of the present tariff law must be wiped out and in their place must be written, with fairness to all and favors to none, a statute designed primarily to raise revenue for the support of the gov-

BULL KILLS S. D. CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Vermillion, S. D., Aug. 12.—A. S. Anderson, dirt farmer candidate for the gubernatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket, was gored to death by a bull on his farm, seven miles north of here.

Anderson went to the pasture to bring home the cows, and when he was overdue his hired man investigated, finding his mangled body.

DAVIS TO PROBE INTERNAL REVENUE DEPARTMENT SOON

(By United Press)
Detroit, Mich., Aug. 12.—Earl Davis of Detroit, who recently resigned as assistant attorney-general of the United States, has been chosen chief counsel of the senatorial committee appointed to investigate the internal revenue department, it was announced here today by Senator James Couzens, chairman.

Davis will leave for Washington Thursday to begin his work. He will make a preliminary report to the committee at its next meeting.

FORD MAY RUN FOR SENATE ON G. O. P. TICKET

SECRETARY OF STATE OF MICHIGAN MAKES RULING REGARDING BALLOT

FORD CLAIMS HE IS A CANDIDATE FOR NO PUBLIC OFFICE

(By United Press)
Lansing, Mich., Aug. 12.—Henry Ford must request withdrawal of his name from the ballot by four o'clock this afternoon or he will automatically become a candidate for the republican nomination for U. S. Senator, regardless of his own desires, Charles J. Deland, secretary of state, announced today.

Certification of the list of candidates to be forwarded to county clerks for printing has been ordered by Deland.

After the list has been certified, which will be about four o'clock today, it will be impossible to withdraw any name.

Ford, who at present is at South Sudbury, Mass., is quoted in dispatches as saying he is not a candidate for any public office, but no formal withdrawal has been received here.

FORD SAYS NOTHING

South Sudbury, Aug. 12.—Henry Ford, through his secretary, today refused to comment on a dispatch from Lansing, Mich., to the effect that he must order his name withdrawn from the Michigan ballots or automatically become a candidate for United States senator from that state.

The secretary stated Mr. Ford had nothing to say other than a reiteration of his previous announcement that he was not to enter politics "on any ticket." He would neither admit nor deny that any instructions had been sent the Michigan secretary of state.

When asked whether his action could properly be interpreted as meaning that Ford intends to let his name remain on the ballot, the replied that anyone was free to interpret the situation as he saw it.

MAN BREAKS JAW WHEN HE FALLS OFF N. P. BRIDGE

A man by the name of Wickstrom from Superior, Wis., was brought to St. Gabriel's hospital Saturday evening suffering from a broken jaw. He and another man were walking the Soo railroad track from Vawter to the dam Saturday afternoon at about 6 o'clock when Mr. Wickstrom fell while crossing the bridge over the Northern Pacific tracks and highway, breaking his jaw and chin knocking out five teeth. He was also quite badly bruised.

He was taken to Royalton by a truck driver and from there to St. Gabriel's hospital in this city.—Little Falls Daily Transcript.

OUTLINES THE ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN

APPEALS FOR PARTY UNITY TO BRING SUCCESS IN NOVEMBER

SAYS SUPREME NEED OF HOUR IS TO RESTORE CONFIDENCE IN GOVERNMENTS

By FRASER EDWARDS (United Press Staff Correspondent) Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 12.

Having outlined the issues in the presidential campaign in his declaration of faith, John W. Davis, the democratic standard bearer set out today to follow up his scathing indictment of the republican administration from the hustings.

Surrounded by the friends and neighbors of his native West Virginia hills and the leaders of his party last night, Davis, in his speech accepting the nomination, took a stand squarely on the democratic platform and appealed for party unity to bring success in November and insure performance of its pledges.

He declared that the "supreme need of the hour" is to restore confidence of the people in their government, "from President Coolidge down none was spared for his lash for alleged contribution to this loss of faith through the 'gross misdeeds' of republican officials."

Davis struck boldly at the "allied forces of greed and dishonesty," condemned the "dreamy radical and the conservative" alike, called for the rigid enforcement of laws against monopolies, urged higher taxes on "swollen incomes," and demanded full due for labor and the farmers. While reserving the details for carrying out the pledges in the democratic platform he freely expressed his views on all important issues. They are in brief as follows:

Labor
The right of labor to an adequate wage earned under healthful conditions, the right to organize in order to obtain it and the right to bargain for it collectively, through agents of its own choosing, have been established after many years of struggle. They must not be impaired by injunction. Labor has a right to voice in all matters of government that directly or peculiarly affect its own rights.

Farmers
Remove tariff discriminations against the farmers. The government by doing its share toward a European settlement shall help to revive and enlarge his foreign markets. Provide active government work in assisting in the co-operative marketing movement, supply the farmers with information to aid in marketing crops. Every power of government must be exerted in times of distress.

Railroads
Adequate service of transportation at reasonable rates. It is quite as important to the railroads that the farmers should prosper as it is to the farmer that the railroads should be adequately paid for services rendered.

Taxes
A pledge of tax reduction and reform. The rates of the income tax should be further lowered in keeping the rule that those who derive from the common effort of society a greater share of its earnings than other fellows must contribute to the support of the state a proportionately larger share. A distinction will be drawn between earned and unearned incomes.

Tariff
The exorbitant rates and discriminatory provisions of the present tariff law must be wiped out and in their place must be written, with fairness to all and favors to none, a statute designed primarily to raise revenue for the support of the gov-

THE TRANSVAAL GROWS PEANUTS

The peanut-growing industry of Northern Transvaal is very promising, says Mr. William E. Vaughan, the American Trade Commissioner to South Africa. A capacity production of 400,000 bags is possible even though the present output is only about 30,000 bags. Growers have organized along cooperative lines and are receiving advances against their crops from the Land Bank. Recent graded samples sent to markets in the United Kingdom and on the continent drew immediate replies demanding shipments of the same quality. With a ready market in England and on the Continent the prospects for the industry are considered very encouraging.

"WOODHOME LODGE" ON LAKE ROOSEVELT

Entertains Party of 50 Guests Composed of St. Paul Kiwanians and Families

ENROUTE HOME FROM CHISHOLM

Club and Grounds Embraced in J. C. Wood Holdings Purchased by St. Paul Syndicate

A party of fifty, composed of members of the St. Paul Kiwanis club, with their families, were entertained at the Woodhome club, on Lake Roosevelt, over the last week end. A dinner-dance was held, on Saturday night, followed by a typical Kiwanis "high-jinks" stunt program on the club house lawn. The beautiful grounds of the club were especially illuminated for the occasion.

The St. Paul party, enroute homeward from the Kiwanis district convention at Chisholm, was headed by President George K. Gann and Mrs. Gann, former President Frank W. Matson and Mrs. Matson. Included in the party were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Feuling and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Dean W. Flowers and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Forrest and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ringstad, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jockers, Mr. and Mrs. Caryl Spiller, Mose Lanpher, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barnes, Miss Gann and Bud Watson.

On Sunday the party enjoyed a motor trip on Lake Roosevelt, landing at Sunrise Bay. From the bay the party hiked through Shadow Trail to Pinnacle Point, returning to the club in time for dinner. Fishing, bowling and horseback riding were other diversions afforded the visitors.

Woodhome club is a syndicate of St. Paul men who purchased the former J. C. Wood summer home which lies just across Roosevelt lake from the town of Outing, Harry Miller, of St. Paul, is the manager in charge of the club property. The St. Paul Pioneer Press has the following to say of the club:

The J. C. Wood estate on Lake Roosevelt, "Woodhome Lodge," forty-five miles northeast of Brainerd, long known as one of the show places of Northern Minnesota, has been sold to a syndicate of twenty-five prominent St. Paul men and will be developed into an exclusive club property, according to announcement just made by Robert L. Carley, 504 Pioneer building.

This is one of the largest and most important transactions in Northern Minnesota lakeshore property recorded this year. Establishment of this club on the scale outlined by its sponsors, presages a new era, it is believed, in social and outing club activities in the north lake country.

The new club, active organization of which will begin this week and in which membership will be limited to a stipulated number of families, will utilize Mr. Wood's lodge as a clubhouse. This structure is situated on a high knoll commanding a sweeping view across Lake Roosevelt and the timber lands surrounding the lake. The lodge building is conservatively valued at $25,000 and is fully equipped with furnishings and hangings and everything necessary for immediate use by club members. The furniture and equipment have been purchased for the club.

Other improvements already on the place include guest cottages, bowling alleys, boat houses, water and electric light system and a system of private roadways leading in from the Brainerd-Remer highway.

Large Lake Frontage

The club will have for its exclusive use 10,000 feet of the choicest frontage on Lake Roosevelt, together with the shore of a small lake situated directly behind the main lodge. The entire tract is timbered with white and Norway pine, white and yellow birch, balsam, spruce and a large variety of hardwoods. Each club member will be allotted a highly desirable cottage site on the lake in addition to having all the privileges of the main lodge and club grounds. Meals will be served at the main lodge throughout the season for the accommodation of club members and their guests.

Because of the many advantages offered and the standing of the men behind the club plans, it is expected that the membership roster will be filled and a waiting list established at an early date. Only fifty names are to be offered as charter members.

More than half of this number already have signed the membership roster. The balance of the membership will be drawn from a selected list.

Among those active in the formation of the club are H. C. Hotelling, F. W. Matson, T. C. Fulton, John M. Bradford, Mayor Nelson, A. W. Bailey, C. W. Cummings, F. D. Williams, Dr. Albert E. Ahrens, J. N. Storr, A. A. Elvgren, R. R. Boorman, E. G. Spindler, L. H. Hubbesing, A. D. Darge, P. A. F. Smith, Harrison Hatton, M. M. Buckman, Harold C. Kerr, Robert L. Carley, Harry M. Miller, Paul G. Clark, Mrs. D. P. Roussopoulos and P. H. McGarry.

The Roosevelt Lake country is famed not only as a fishing ground where muskies, Great Northern pike, bass, crappies, lake trout, white fish and a variety of small fish are found in abundance, but is also known for the hunting to be found in the vicinity. Deer, partridge, grouse and ducks abound there in season.

The first entertainment of the season for club members took place July 4, when the club grounds and the main lodge were thrown open to a party of St. Paul people.

Camp life at Pug-O-Na-Ge-Shig where the Girl Scouts are enjoying an outing, goes merrily on, with a few changes. The wood gatherers have been relieved of the most difficult part of their task that of chopping. The girls are very grateful to J. A. Joncas, for furnishing free a load of wood. Mr. Joncas provided a truck to bring out the girls at the beginning of the camp, with a promise to also bring them home again.

A number of parents and friends were visitors at the camp on Sunday. They praised it very highly and promised to come again. The girls welcomed them joyfully.

Wednesday is to be "Mother's Day." The girls are planning a special program to be held at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and will be as follows:

1. Scout song.
2. Scout Oath—Catharine Carmichael.
3. Signaling—Kay and Eleanor Nolan.
4. Pledge—E. Swanson.
5. Dance—Iva Gaskill.
6. Scout Laws—Margaret Jones.
7. Motto and Slogan—Katherine Hagberg.
8. History of American flag—Elizabeth Polson.
9. Violin solo—Emma Jean Clarkson.
10. Knots—Frances Corbet.
11. Sixteen points of the compass—Evelyn Veisz.
12. Dance—Geraldine White.
13. Respect due American flag—Ellen Berglund.
14. Scout song—By scouts.
15. When Scouts should salute—Leonore Joncas.
16. Lowering flag—by Scouts.
17. Taps—Margaret Jackson.

The program is in charge of Margaret Springer and Dorothy Klevan. The troops enjoying the camp are from Brainerd and Barrows, and are in charge of Miss Thora Ingebritson and Miss Alice Johnstone.

Term for Morbid State

Neurosis is the medical term describing a morbid state, either functional or organic. Neuroses are classed as disorders of emotion, nutrition, heat, perception, circulation, and as sensory disorders.

In Defense of Golf

Medical science has come to the rescue of golf. Not that the game needs it especially, but Dr. Dearden, an English physician, recently told the world that "of all the games for tired business workers, I believe golf to be the worst." Now an American physician, Dr. Carlos F. McDonald, comes forth with the glad news that golf is the fountain of perennial youth.

Golf "Rabbits" Barred

Golf players known as "rabbits" will not be permitted to clutter up the fairways in the British open and amateur golf championships in the future. A "rabbit" is one who leaps from bunker to bunker and persists in playing the big events though every one knows he hasn't a chance to win.

WHAT SHALL I WEAR ON AN OCEAN TRIP?

HEDDA HOYT IS APPEALED TO FOR ADVICE ON THE SUBJECT

NEVER GOOD TASTE TO DISPLAY COSTLY JEWELS ON SHIP

By HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor of the United Press
(Written for the United Press)

New York, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The other day a little Russian girl who has made a name for herself through the Batik art, came to me for advice. Fifteen years ago, this girl who is now twenty-two years old, came to America from Russia as a steerage passenger. Today, she has accumulated enough money to go home to Russia on one of the finest ocean liners and she is going to travel as a first class passenger.

"What shall I wear on the boat?" she asked me. "Don't you think it would be rather startling if I wore a differently colored Batik dress each day? I could use the most brilliant colors for morning with pale pastels for afternoon wear and two-toned metal clothes for dinner frocks."

Like so many other girls, this little Russian wanted to cause a sensation on the steamer where travelers, especially women travelers are often judged by their clothes. Wild and riotous colors and unconventional cuts often bring unjust comment upon the wearer. One cannot judge 'what's what for travel wear' from the pictures one sees of voyaging actresses who sit with a vast showing of hosier for the cameraman. Often these same actresses pass unobscured along the deck the second day out at sea.

Steamer clothes, like all other traveling clothes should be chosen for their traveling capacities. It is only natural to want to be prettily and sensibly gowned at the same time and this is often not a simple matter. The reason being that the suit is uncomfortable. One likes to be as comfortable on a boat as in their own home and long, tailored sleeves are uncomfortable things in themselves.

The One-Piece Frock

The one-piece frock is by all means the most serviceable and sensible thing for travel. With a cape accompaniment it makes an ideal outfit. The following suit will illustrate a comfortable and lovely costume which would be suitable for the beginning of the voyage. Flat Crepe, in navy, black, coffee or dark gray made into a one-piece frock with short sleeves and bateau neck forms the foundation for the flat-pleated cape which is of finger-tip length. The dress may be enlivened with colored embroidery or left as simple as possible. While the pleated cape is not strictly tailored, it is sufficiently so for an ocean voyage. This three-piece idea may be carried out effectively by using black crepe for the skirt of the frock with white crepe figured in black for the bodice. Its cape need not be lined but the streamers which hold it about the

Infant Mortality Rates Are Falling Through Proper Care of Baby's Milk

UP WITH THE CALORIES

Babies are healthier. Infant mortality rates are falling steadily. A happy picture of the future is painted by medical experts and social workers at "Baby Week" conferences. The entire race will attain greater longevity, these experts said at the recent Chicago meeting, if progress of the last few years continues.

Mothers of today far out-shine mothers and grandmas of the nineteenth century in care of babies. Many are skilled in calories, bacteria and hygiene. Still others, however, and in far greater number, ignore vital rules in preparation and care of food. They are in large measure responsible for the mortality rate being up to its present point. To protect the health of the household, and particularly the health of the child, the experts say food should be kept in a good refrigerator with a well-filled ice chamber. Utmost care should be taken with babies' milk. It should never be placed upon a window sill or in any other improvised cooling place, even in cool weather. Bacteria multiply quickly in milk kept in warm temperatures. A low, even temperature is required. Milk even slightly tainted endangers the baby's health.

Modern mothers are learning much about proper diet for baby and for the rest of the household. Moreover, they are learning that the cheapest article in household expenses, is the real safeguard of health. This summer hundreds of health experts are preaching the gospel of the proper care of food as the means of lowering infant mortality and building a stronger race.

BASEBALL LOOKING UP

WITH Brainerd out of the class of semi-professional baseball, and down to an amateur standard, baseball has picked up in these parts and has helped to make the Dispatch sport page an interesting one. Brainerd since its last experience has never taken kindly to the subsidizing of a professional team.

In days past Brainerd imported expensive batteries and fielders and the latter worked with one eye on the clock and the other on their train or automobile. Their whole aim was to make money. But precious few minutes were ever spent in practice with the balance of the home team.

With amateurs in the ranks Brainerd has a city league, a shop team, Elks team and any number of youthful sluggers and the groundwork is being laid for a new crop of Joe Bushes, Chief Benders and other distinguished lights in the diamond.

Brainerd has always been a great place on the sport map of the world. We have our Joe Bush headed for another world's series, our Chief Charles Bender formerly with the Athletics and now pitching in another eastern league; our Captain William H. Fawcett of trapshooting fame and all the other Brainerd champions who distinguished themselves at Breezy Point state tournament; Alba Hall, champion long distance roller skater; Fred Place, now dead, formerly of the Brainerd Dispatch force and in the world war one of the greatest aerial photographers and fliers; renowned bass fishermen like Henry I. Cohen and others; successful deer hunters like Henry Rosko; chess sharks like Dr. A. K. Cohen; champion "Slippery Lizz" card players like Charlie Johnson and rummy players like Bill Entriiken and "cyclone" players like Con O'Brien; champion after dinner speakers like Charlie Johnson—well the array of talent is fairly inexhaustible.

BELIEVES IN ECONOMY

THEODORE CHRISTIANSON, republican candidate for governor of Minnesota, believes in economy and knows too how to bring about a saving of tax bills affecting every citizen of our commonwealth. It is one thing to simply announce yourself as favoring a certain program and another to show you have the ability to bring about a certain condition of things.

Christianson stands for economy in government operations and has a record of achievement in such lines. As chairman of the appropriations committee of the house, during the last session of the legislature, he cut down requests for appropriations which amounted to $15,000,000.

Our state government does not seem to be suffering in the least as a result of Mr. Christianson's program of economy, yet at the same time the taxpayers have been saved a large sum. So far as the governorship is concerned, "more of Ted, and less of taxes," sounds good to most people.

And if the farmers of Minnesota want a practical farmer for governor, who as such will fully understand their needs, they cannot do better than support Theodore Christianson. It is perhaps not generally known, but "Ted" Christianson was born and raised on a farm and for many years was himself a practical dirt farmer.

FACIAL EXPRESSION CHANGES

RECENT photographs published of the boy slayers, Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., show they have lost the smirk and grins of two weeks ago and instead the strained expression of their faces shows they fear the justice which may be meted out.

It seems to have taken the two weeks to eventually get into their brain pans a realization of the enormity of their offense. The defense has its hands full, attempting to steer away from the gallows on one hand and commitment to an insane asylum on the other.

It will be a new thing in law if absence of motive can be claimed exemption from the crime of murder. The man who kills a fellow being with as little compunction as one would do away a mosquito, is not safe to be left free in society.

The evidence of alienists introduced is all based on conclusions. And when it comes to forming conclusions, we are all capable of that, alienists or no alienists. The defense in this case has a most difficult task and we wonder what the outcome will be.

THEY PUMP WATER INTO THEIR LAKES

IN the Brainerd Lake Region providence has kindly turned on the rain taps and raised our lake levels to decent heights. We seem to have had more of a fall of water than they are getting south in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

In Ramsey county the commissioners voted heroic measures to save Turtle lake which was fast degenerating to mudhole proportions. The city water supply is to be tapped to bring Turtle lake back to prehistoric proportions.

The commissioners adopted a resolution submitted by Commissioner John Lenine and recommended by P. N. Coates, county engineer, to urge the water board to make a 12-inch main connection between the lake and its big supply main being built to tap the Mississippi river at Fridley. Mr. Coates said the water could be secured for the lake in this way cheaper than by installing pumps.

At the same time a resolution was adopted calling for a report on the cost of putting water into Lakes Owasson, Snail and Grass. Mr. Coates claimed that the most efficient way to supply these lakes is by installing pumps.

ACCEPTANCE SPEECHES

CANDIDATES for the presidency in Republican and Democratic parties will no doubt be surprised when they are informed of their nomination. Both are preparing speeches of acceptance, so that takes off some of the surprise edge.

IF Thief River Falls, a town of less than 5,000 population can entertain the 1925 convention of the American Legion, then Brainerd with over twice the population can certainly take care of its Elks brothers, their wives and friends on the occasion of the Elks state convention of 1925.

WE can point with pride to the Brainerd school district which has reduced its indebtedness to $55,000. This welcome step was taken at the last meeting of the Board.

Crater Brings to Mind
Ancient Idea of Hell

The news that Halemauau, the hottest crater of the Kilauea volcano in Hawaii, is active again and has thrown up black dust clouds to a height of 7,000 feet, reminds me of my visit to the Pit of Everlasting Fire. That is what the name Halemauau means, and it corresponds to its description, writes G. L. D. Jones.

The Japanese liner in which I was making a ten-weeks' voyage from Hongkong to Valparaiso (Incidentally, I believe, the longest passenger voyage in the world) not only called at Honolulu, but at Hilo, and from Hilo—a port in the making—I went with the few other white passengers on board by motor car to Kilauea and Halemauau.

Our chauffeur was a Japanese of a Japanese-Hawaiian mixture. In his capacity for driving I had little confidence at the start, and out of his hands we were all very glad to get at the finish, more especially as the motor car itself had seen better days.

It had been warm when I left Hilo (in whites and a sun-helmet). When the car stopped I was shivering with cold—on the tropic line, with an active volcano at my feet. There was a guest house for volcano visitors who wished to stop the night. All around was a black desolation of waste ground, striated by solidified tracks of lava from former eruptions. We picked our way down along a well-trodden path and suddenly we saw Halemauau.

We were at the end of the world, and below us, was a vivid representation of the ancient idea of Hell.

The pit was glowing with fire, red-hot fire. It was cut up into sections of fire. Picture to yourself pools of red-hot fire, now suddenly agitated into fountains; rivers of red-hot fire, now overflowing their banks. Ten, twenty, thirty pools and fountains and rivers all blazing at once, all working at red-hot pressure, some suddenly becoming even more excessively angry than before. That is Halemauau.

The City of David

Prof. R. A. S. Macalister, describing recently the work carried on on the eastern hills to the south of Jerusalem, said that there was undoubted evidence of the occupation of the site by men of prehistoric time. They had, however, discovered the bottom portions of the walls of the city that David had taken from the Jebusites. Although it was not wise to theorize before the work was completed, they had found indications that pointed to a spot in the northern wall being that which David breached when he took the city, subsequently screened with a wall that he built to cover the damage, and finally properly repaired by Solomon.

A strong bastion, with walls over twelve feet thick, indicated that it might be the tower from which the Jebusites mocked David, saying that only blind men and cripples would be necessary to hold the walls against him. The excavations also had brought to light other things which illustrated or amplified Biblical references to David. The work was as yet far from complete, only about an acre of ground having been taken, but sufficient had been done to show very attractive possibilities in its completion.

As She Understood It

After the usual Saturday romp the children gathered in the drawing room for some music.

As bedtime drew near the mother said: "Now, children, choose a hymn to finish up with and then you must all say good night."

"Let's have 'Ere Again O'er Sabbath Close,'" said a little girl of seven.

"Well, I think that would be more suitable for tomorrow night," replied the mother.

"Oh, but you always air our Sabbath clothes on Saturdays," said the child.

Research Work Needed

It is not safe to say that any intelligent research work is useless. With so overwhelming a proportion of the inhabitants of the earth giving their eager attention to the accumulation of wealth which perishes, we can well afford to provide the opportunity for the exceptional man here and there, to investigate any subject to which his enthusiasm directs his attention. If he succeeds in discovering truth, the investment will be of imperishable benefit to the human race.—William Wallace Campbell, President of the University of California.

Why Don't They?

She is a business woman of Indianapolis and in the spinster class, too. And she resents the pitying way people have of saying "old maid" when they speak of some one in her class.

The other evening the man before her was introduced as "the town's most popular bachelor."

Then she arose, "I'm not married either," she said, "but when you speak of me as an old maid I want you to give it the same spicy twist as you do 'bachelor' when you speak of that unmarried man."

Others Had Wondered

Little Margie was unusually silent, her mind deep in the realms of fancy. Finally she turned to her mother, who was seated on the sofa with a rather sad expression on her face, and asked: "Say, mother, how did you come to marry papa?"

Margie's mother looked at her daughter with a wistful smile and replied: "My dear child, is that beginning to astonish you, too?"

His Eyesight
Restored and Love Renewed

By MILDRED GOODRIDGE

"BLIND!" "Stone blind, Roslyn Moore has been for a year. It came about through the premature explosion of a flashlight while an operator was taking a view of the studio in which he, Roslyn Moore, had painted 'The Deluge.'"

"It must have broken his heart to know, later, that his picture was famous, but his eyes forever closed to its beauties."

The picture brought him a fortune. That, of course, made affliction more bearable, but at once Moore took up music. He is a happy man through all his hard adversity."

"Ah! It is pathetic," was the response. "See, how he moves along."

The two speakers were Parisians, in the Latin quarter. They were regarding and speaking of Roslyn Moore. Their brief colloquy had told all the story there was to tell.

Just now, came in hand, he was cautiously groping his way down the pavement leading away from the entrance to his hotel. He had not gone ten steps when the ragged newsboy at the corner stand ran up to him.

It was to seize one arm gently and with infinite eager tenderness lead the unfortunate across a narrow alley.

There was a little breathing spot of a park a square further on. It was here that Moore spent a portion of his day, usually surrounded by the poor children from the near tenements.

In order to reach the park Moore had to cross a broad esplanade. At its inner edge a young girl of eighteen kept a cheap flower stand. Pity that he could not see Cecile, as her face brightened at the first glimpse of him! Her small, pretty hand would steal shyly into his own. Proudly, flutteringly she would lead him across.

"Thanks, mademoiselle, you help to make my life beautiful," always Moore would say, but never an audible response. Only a soft pressure of the guiding hand, and then—a flower.

Finally, for a week Cecile missed her friend. She grew pale and thin and distressed. She watched from her little booth hourly. Moore was gone, and with him her sole interest in life, the sunshine, heaven!

There came to her the woman in charge of the little hotel one day. She placed a rouleau of gold pieces upon the counter of the flower stand.

"See, Cecile," she said, softly, "the maestro has gone to see a wonderful surgeon in London. He bade me bring you the money, and each day you are to take your daintiest blossoms to the little ones in the park. He left the word, too. It was this: A kiss through me of hope, of courage, of gratitude," and the woman pressed her lips to the brow of the pure, innocent girl.

Cecile burst into tears. She clasped the hand of the kindly dame, kneeling. Then she stood transfixed as in a dream. The kiss—from him! A coronet seemed to wreath her brow. She was aroused only as she heard some one address the departing messenger.

"The maestro is gone, I hear?" was uttered.

"Yes," came the answer, "but to return to the spot where loving hearts made of life a paradise. We pray for him—that his sight may be restored, as he hopes."

"Ah, indeed, may heaven be merciful to return him to see his grand masterpiece in the salon!"

"He said not."

"Then why—what?"

"Cecile," he said—"The voices died away, the soulful eyes of the girl stole startlingly after them. 'Cecile!' Oh, what meant this. 'A kiss'—'Cecile!' The quivering face sank deep in a bowl of roses, as if imploring the flower fairies to tell the mystery."

She hid her hand in her bosom, blushing as though to shut away the sight of a telltale. Had those tender fingers told the story of her devotion, had the thrill of her gentle soul permeated her touch of the hand she so cherished?

And then one day—oh, love immortal! There came out from the entrance of the hotel the familiar form. But there was no came now. He walked erect, his bearing that of some knight, gladness, in rhapsody with life and all its message. A new glory shone from the noble face, sightless no longer. Straight up to the palpitating Cecile he advanced, both hands extended. And there he stood, silent, motionless, while he gazed into the very soul of the lovely girl.

"Cecile! Cecile!" he said softly at length—"to see you first, my dream, my thought—reality! Come—I am yours, you are mine."

Her hand went tremulously to her lips. In mute signal she motioned that she was dumb.

"I knew it not until the day I went away," he said, the more fervently encircling her dear hand. "And then I knew how I loved her who loved me—blind, stricken, helpless. But your eyes—they speak, your soul, it speaks! Caritas—how happy we shall be!"

And so it was. There was a quiet wedding in the little park that evening, with Roslyn's old loyal companions in attendance. And the holy stars, the gentle dew spoke to the rapturous Cecile—and her soul in return!

Gauls Conceded to Be
First Makers of Soap

Made from goat's tallow and beechwood ashes, the earliest forms of soap were used by the ancient inhabitants of Germany to give a reddish color to the hair, according to the records of the historian, Pliny the elder. Although mixed into hard and liquid material, it was not known as a cleansing substance, but was often employed in the treatment of skin troubles.

The Gauls, it is said, introduced it into other parts of the world.

Today the yearly production in the United States is estimated to be two and one-half billion pounds. Not until about the Second century of the Christian era was the product used as a cleansing article, it is claimed, and an ancient factory for manufacturing the material unearthed in the ruins of Pompeii still contained a quantity of it in a good state of preservation.

Northern Spain and Marseilles later became the chief centers of the industry and produced large amounts of the Castile variety from olive oil and lye. Earlier accounts of the existence of soap among Asiatic peoples are believed to refer to some kinds of mixtures which were devoted to purposes entirely apart from those of dyes or cleaning substances.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Some Preliminaries to
His Good Night's Rest

Courtlandt Bleeker, at a dinner on Fifth avenue, was talking about the high prices in Europe since the war. "Yes, they are high sometimes, but most of it is travelers' tales. That reminds me that I heard a good one recently. It was a tale about Ceylon. An American had just arrived at a Colombo hotel and the chambermaid said to him, as she put his bedroom in order: 'Have you asked at the office for your frog, sir?' 'My frog?' gasped the American, 'what do you mean?' 'The frog to kill your cockroaches, sir. Make them give you a young, lemm, muscular frog, a good jumper; one that will clean out the cockroaches thoroughly. Then, afterward, when the cockroaches are all gone, you must go down to the office again and get your snake.' 'Snake? Holy Moses! Why a snake?' 'A snake to eat the frog, sir!' replied the maid. 'And then, as soon as the frog is eaten, you must get out of bed and kill the snake with a club; after that you'll be sure of a good night's rest.'"

Example of the Bee

It is very important to remember, says John Burroughs, the great naturalist, that the bee does not get honey from the flowers; it makes honey from what it gets from the flowers. What it gets from the flowers is nothing but sweetened water. The bee gets its sweet water, retires, thinks it over and by a private process makes its honey. So many nature writers fail to profit by the example of the bee. They go into the woods and come out again and write about their experience—but they don't give us honey. They don't retire and subject what they find in the woods to a private process. They give us just a little sweet water, pretty thoroughly diluted. I have tried for many years not to give the world just a bare record, but to flavor it with my own personality.

Duck's Use of Wings

Do ducks use their wings while swimming under water? The question is discussed frequently among sportsmen and nature students, and opinions sometimes differ. Testimony of reliable authorities, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, supports the belief that various species of ducks and grebes, loons and other diving birds do not use their wings when swimming beneath the surface for food or in trying to escape capture. A ruddy duck was observed on Lake Michigan not long ago, feeding in fifteen or twenty feet of clear water. As it got well started on its downward plunge, the wings, about two-thirds extended, were used in quick, short strokes, at the rate of about one a second, to assist in propelling it and in rising to the top, as well.

Bowls Were Not Alike

"A man selling pottery came to Salem and rapped at a certain lady's door," says the Boston Globe. "He was asked in. Just as he got inside the door he dropped one of the bowls, supposedly by mistake, and it did not break. When in the kitchen he dropped another, and then remarked to the lady that his bowls were guaranteed not to break. She bought some, to be paid for when delivered. When they came she put them away to wait until some of her friends would appear and she would drop one for a surprise. A friend finally arrived. The lady took a pot from the shelf and dropped it accidentally on purpose. It shattered into a thousand pieces—quite unlike the rubber samples."

Basis of Civilization

Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man. Man may be civilized in some degree without great progress in manufactures and with little commerce with his distant neighbors. But without the cultivation of the earth he is, in all countries, a savage. Until he gives up the chase, and fixes himself in some place, and seeks a living from the earth, he is a roaming barbarian. When tillage begins, other arts follow. The farmers, therefore, are the founders of civilization.—Daniel Webster.

BASEBALL LOOKING UP

WITH Brainerd out of the class of semi-professional baseball, and down to an amateur standard, baseball has picked up in these parts and has helped to make the Dispatch sport page an interesting one. Brainerd since its last experience has never taken kindly to the subsidizing of a professional team.

In days past Brainerd imported expensive batteries and fielders and the latter worked with one eye on the clock and the other on their train or automobile. Their whole aim was to make money. But precious few minutes were ever spent in practice with the balance of the home team.

With amateurs in the ranks Brainerd has a city league, a shop team, Elks team and any number of youthful sluggers and the groundwork is being laid for a new crop of Joe Bushes, Chief Benders and other distinguished lights in the diamond.

Brainerd has always been a great place on the sport map of the world. We have our Joe Bush headed for another world's series, our Chief Charles Bender formerly with the Athletics and now pitching in another eastern league; our Captain William H. Fawcett of trapshooting fame and all the other Brainerd champions who distinguished themselves at Breezy Point state tournament; Alba Hall, champion long distance roller skater; Fred Place, now dead, formerly of the Brainerd Dispatch force and in the world war one of the greatest aerial photographers and fliers; renowned bass fishermen like Henry I. Cohen and others; successful deer hunters like Henry Rosko; chess sharks like Dr. A. K. Cohen; champion "Slippery Lizz" card players like Charlie Johnson and rummy players like Bill Entriken and "cyclone" players like Con O'Brien; champion after dinner speakers like Charlie Johnson—well the array of talent is fairly inexhaustible.

"Thanks, mademoiselle, you help to make my life beautiful," always Moore would say, but never an audible response. Only a soft pressure of the guiding hand, and then—a flower.

Finally, for a week Cecile missed her friend. She grew pale and thin and distressed. She watched from her little booth hourly. Moore was gone, and with him her sole interest in life, the sunshine, heaven!

There came to her the woman in charge of the little hotel one day. She placed a rouleau of gold pieces upon the counter of the flower stand.

"See, Cecile," she said, softly, "the maestro has gone to see a wonderful surgeon in London. He bade me bring you the money, and each day you are to take your dearest blossoms to the little ones in the park. He left the word, too. It was this: A kiss through me of hope, of courage, of gratitude," and the woman pressed her lips to the brow of the pure, innocent girl.

Cecile burst into tears. She clasped the hand of the kindly dame, kneeling. Then she stood transfixed as in a dream. The kiss—from him! A coronet seemed to wreath her brown. She was aroused only as she heard some one address the departing messenger.

"The maestro is gone, I hear?" was uttered.

"Yes," came the answer, "but to return to the spot where loving hearts made life a paradise. We pray for him—that his sight may be restored, as he hopes."

"Ah, indeed, may heaven be merciful to return him to see his grand masterpiece in the salon—"

"He said not."

"Then why—what?"

"Cecile, he said—" The voices died away, the soulful eyes of the girl stole startingly after them.

"Cecile! Oh, what meant this, 'A kiss'—'Cecile'!" The quivering face sank deep in a bowl of roses, as if imploring the flower fairies to tell the mystery.

She hid her hand in her bosom, blushing as though to shut away the sight of a telltale. Had those tender fingers told the story of her devotion, had the thrill of her gentle soul permeated her touch of the hand she so cherished?

And then one day—oh, love immortal! There came out from the entrance of the hotel the familiar form. But there was no came now. He walked erect, his bearing that of some knight, gladness in rhapsody with life and all its message. A new glory shone from the noble face, sightless no longer. Straight up to the palpitating Cecile he advanced, both hands extended. And there he stood, silent, motionless, while he gazed into the very soul of the lovely girl.

"Cecile! Cecile!" he said softly at length—"to see you first, my dream, my thought—reality! Come—I am yours, you are mine."

Her hand went tremulously to her lips. In mute signal she motioned that she was dumb.

"I knew it not until the day I went away," he said, the more fervently encircling her dear hand. "And then I knew how I loved her who loved me—blind, stricken, helpless. But your eyes—they speak, your soul, it speaks! Caritas—how happy we shall be!"

And so it was. There was a quiet wedding in the little park that evening, with Roslyn's old loyal companions in attendance. And the holy stars, the gentle dew spoke to the rapturous Cecile—and her soul in return!

Gauls Conceded to Be First Makers of Soap

Made from goat's tallow and beechwood ashes, the earliest forms of soap were used by the ancient inhabitants of Germany to give a reddish color to the hair, according to the records of the historian, Pliny the elder. Although mixed into hard and liquid material, it was not known as a cleansing substance, but was often employed in the treatment of skin troubles.

The Gauls, it is said, introduced it into other parts of the world.

Today the yearly production in the United States is estimated to be two and one-half billion pounds. Not until about the Second century of the Christian era was the product used as a cleansing article, it is claimed, and an ancient factory for manufacturing the material unearthed in the ruins of Pompeii still contained a quantity of it in a good state of preservation.

Northern Spain and Marseilles later became the chief centers of the industry and produced large amounts of the Castile variety from olive oil and lye. Earlier accounts of the existence of soap among Asiatic peoples are believed to refer to some kinds of mixtures which were devoted to purposes entirely apart from those of dyes or cleansing substances.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Some Preliminaries to His Good Night's Rest

Courtlandt Bleecker, at a dinner on Fifth avenue, was talking about the high prices in Europe since the war. "Yes, they are high sometimes, but most of it is travelers' tales. That reminds me that I heard a good one recently. It was a tale about Ceylon. An American had just arrived at a Colombo hotel and the chambermaid said to him, as she put his bedroom in order: 'Have you asked at the office for your frog, sir?' 'My frog?' gasped the American, 'what do you mean?' 'The frog to kill your cockroaches, sir. Make them give you a young, lean, muscular frog, a good jumper; one that will clean out the cockroaches thoroughly. Then, afterward, when the cockroaches are all gone, you must go down to the office again and get your snake.' 'Snake?' Holy Moses! Why a snake? 'A snake to eat the frog, sir!' replied the maid. 'And then, as soon as the frog is eaten, you must get out of bed and kill the snake with a club; after that you'll be sure of a good night's rest.'"

Example of the Bee

It is very important to remember, says John Burroughs, the great naturalist, that the bee does not get honey from the flowers; it makes honey from what it gets from the flowers. What it gets from the flowers is nothing but sweetened water. The bee gets its sweet water, retires, thinks it over and by a private process makes its honey. So many nature writers fail to profit by the example of the bee. They go into the woods and come out again and write about their experience—but they don't give us honey. They don't retire and subject what they find in the woods to a private process. They give us just a little sweet water, pretty thoroughly diluted. I have tried for many years not to give the world just a bare record, but to flavor it with my own personality.

Duck's Use of Wings

Do ducks use their wings while swimming under water? The question is discussed frequently among sportsmen and nature students, and opinions sometimes differ. Testimony of reliable authorities, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, supports the belief that various species of ducks and grebes, loons and other diving birds do not use their wings when swimming beneath the surface far food or in trying to escape capture. A ruddy duck was observed on Lake Michigan not long ago, feeding in fifteen or twenty feet of clear water. As it got well started on its downward plunge, the wings, about two-thirds extended, were used in quick, short strokes, at the rate of about one a second, to assist in propelling it and in rising to the top, as well.

Bowls Were Not Alike

"A man selling pottery came to Salem and rapped at a certain lady's door," says the Boston Globe. "He was asked in. Just as he got inside the door he dropped one of the bowls, supposedly by mistake, and it did not break. When in the kitchen he dropped another, and then remarked to the lady that his bowls were guaranteed not to break. She bought some, to be paid for when delivered. When they came she put them away to wait until some of her friends would appear and she would drop one for a surprise. A friend finally arrived. The lady took a pot from the shelf and dropped it accidentally on purpose. It shattered into a thousand pieces—quite unlike the rubber samples."

Basis of Civilization

Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man. Man may be civilized in some degree without great progress in manufactures and with little commerce with his distant neighbors. But without the cultivation of the earth he is, in all countries, a savage. Until he gives up the chase, and fixes himself in some place, and seeks a living from the earth, he is a roaming barbarian. When tillage begins, other arts follow. The farmers, therefore, are the founders of civilization.—Daniel Webster.

KNUTSON MEETS WITH TRAINEES

In Company With P. J. Batten, Chief of Rehabilitation Section, Hears Complaints Made

DELAYS CAUSED BY RED TAPE

60 Days Sometimes Required to Get Requisition Through For Tractor Repair

Hon. Harold Knutson, congressman from this district, with P. J. Batten, chief of the rehabilitation section of the Veterans Bureau, St. Paul, are in the city today in conference with local trainees.

The purpose of this conference is to take up any grievances that the trainees may have in the service of the Veterans Bureau. Some sixty are in attendance and are not at all backward about telling their troubles to Congressman Knutson and Mr. Batten.

The principal grievance that the men have is the delayed service on repairs for farm tractors and other machinery. Under the present system, if repairs are needed, a requisition must be made out and sent to Washington, D. C., for approval, and it sometimes requires sixty days to get the repair parts needed.

It is the hope of the trainees to have this centralization of the Bureau's service done away with, and in its place branches nearer the groups of men receiving the service, so that such delays as are now experienced will be abolished.

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF YOUNG WOMAN SLAIN IN WOODS

St. Joseph, Mich., Aug. 12.—Police and Berrien county authorities are working with slender clues today to solve the mystery in the death of a beautiful woman whose partially decomposed body was found in a thicket near an abandoned railroad track 10 miles south of here yesterday.

The woman, between 25 and 30 years old, was not identified.

A farmer came upon the body lying face down. The woman was fashionably dressed. Her clothing was disarranged, as if she had been dragged on the ground. Apparently she had been dead for at least five days. Examination disclosed that she was to become a mother.

Across the base of the woman's neck was what appeared to be a wide wound. Officials believed, however, that this may have been the result of decomposition. Her body bore several bruises.

On the woman's wrist was a heavy gold bracelet, engraved with the letter "C." This, with a small gold pin was virtually the only mark of identification. The woman was about 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighed about 160 pounds.

Her hair was bobbed. Her eyes were blue. She wore a brown silk dress, silk stockings, white slippers and over her body was found a gray coat.

Sheriff George C. Bridgeman has notified Chicago police.

FILIPPINO ASKS ABOUT MINNESOTA

Alfonso A. Antipola of Hinundayan, Leyte, Philippine Islands, wants to know about Minnesota, and what's more, he wants to know about the "works," and he wants to know how much of a deposit is "not needed."

In his letter to the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association Mr. Antipola says:

"Please tell about your notice that Minnesota bids people to come. Tell me the works, salary, passport expenses, or deposit not needed. Awaiting your reply and hearing your summons I remain, etc."

In the same mail came a letter from Crisostomo Miranda, of Natividad Pangasinan, P. I., with a request for Minnesota information.

There are only a few of the requests that have come to the Lakes Association from far places this year. South Africa has been represented twice, and last week a man from Shanghai, China, registered at the office.

"Minnesota draws people from all corners of the globe, and likewise, Minnesotans, while appreciating their own advantages, perhaps get the travel bug from our visitors and likewise tie themselves away," said H. C. Hotelling, executive secretary. "A government bulletin shows that Minnesota was sixth among the states supplying visitors to Glacier Park last summer. We have learned from our own guests that it pays to get around a bit.

"See and be seen," is our motto."

Winning the Barberry War

Observers who have traveled extensively over the spring wheat country of the Northwest states report little evidence of the black stem rust of grain which science has traced to common barberry as source and cause.

It is easy to draw large conclusions from small premises, but it seems fair to say that the comparative freedom of the wheat fields from black stem rust is a fruit of the militant fight carried on in the North Central states to uproot and destroy barberry bushes. Federal and state governments have aided in the extermination of this rust-breeding pest, but the main credit goes to the farmers who, convinced that the scientists were right, set themselves to the business of clearing their places of barberry.

Tremendous ravages have been made on the wheat fields of the Northwest from year to year by rust. The loss in the last few years has been estimated at scores of millions of dollars. Rust reduces both yield and quality, thereby cutting two ways into the farmer's pocketbook.

It looks today as if the fight on barberry was worth many times what it cost in time, muscular energy and money. Anything that contributes to the increasing of acre yields in farm crops is abundantly worth while; and more particularly so when quality of product is improved.

The war on barberry is not yet over, although many successful skirmishes and major battles against it have been won. Conditions in the fields this year should act as a spur for a continuance of the eradication campaign. —Minneapolis Tribune.

The largest elevated water tank in the world is being erected in San Diego, Calif. The tank has a capacity of 1,200,000 gallons, is fifty-four feet in diameter and fifty-two feet in height.

Historic Battle

The name Battle of the Giants is given to a battle fought at Marignano (now Malegnano), near Milan, September 13-14, 1515, between the allied French and Venetian forces under Francis I of France, and the Italians and Swiss, commanded by the duke of Milan. The battle was hotly contested and resulted in a victory for Francis. The total number of slain is said to have exceeded 20,000. Trivulzio, who had been present at 18 pitched battles, called them all child's play as compared with this "battle of giants."

Observers who have traveled extensively over the spring wheat country of the Northwest states report little evidence of the black stem rust of grain which science has traced to common barberry as source and cause.

It is easy to draw large conclusions from small premises, but it seems fair to say that the comparative freedom of the wheat fields from black stem rust is a fruit of the militant fight carried on in the North Central states to uproot and destroy barberry bushes. Federal and state governments have aided in the extermination of this rust-breeding pest, but the main credit goes to the farmers who, convinced that the scientists were right, set themselves to the business of clearing their places of barberry.

Tremendous ravages have been made on the wheat fields of the Northwest from year to year by rust. The loss in the last few years has been estimated at scores of millions of dollars. Rust reduces both yield and quality, thereby cutting two ways into the farmer's pocketbook.

It looks today as if the fight on barberry was worth many times what it cost in time, muscular energy and money. Anything that contributes to the increasing of acre yields in farm crops is abundantly worth while; and more particularly so when quality of product is improved.

The war on barberry is not yet over, although many successful skirmishes and major battles against it have been won. Conditions in the fields this year should act as a spur for a continuance of the eradication campaign. —Minneapolis Tribune.

Historic Battle

The name Battle of the Giants is given to a battle fought at Marignano (now Malegnana), near Milan, September 13-14, 1515, between the allied French and Venetian forces under Francis I of France, and the Italians and Swiss, commanded by the duke of Milan. The battle was hotly contested and resulted in a victory for Francis. The total number of slain is said to have exceeded 20,000. Trivulzio, who had been present at 18 pitched battles, called them all child's play as compared with this "battle of giants."

PEAT PLANT TO BE BUILT NEAR BEMIDJI SOON

STOCKHOLDERS OF DEHYDRATING COMPANY INCORPORATE AND ELECT OFFICERS

PEAT FUEL BRIQUETTES EXPECTED TO BE PLACED ON MARKET BEFORE WINTER

Brainerd people are interested in this commercial treatment of peat for fuel. There are many peat fields in Crow Wing county which can be utilized just as is being done in Beltrami county.

(From Bemidji Daily Pioneer)
Stockholders of the Peat Fuel Dehydrating company, which will soon be manufacturing peat fuel here, met at the New Bemidji hotel Friday, signed articles of incorporation and named directors and officers.

With ample capital to begin operations, the company has selected the farm of Carl Opsata, one mile east of the Fifth ward, as the place where the plant will be erected and construction will begin at once, a contract for the machinery having been awarded to the Tollefson Manufacturing company of Bagley.

The company is incorporated for $25,000 and the directors named at the Friday meeting are W. L. Brooks, Carl Opsata, D. O. Mecklenburg of Bemidji, C. F. Lillo, of Lengby and F. A. Plummer of Minneapolis. The officers of the new company are D. O. Mecklenburg, president; F. A. Plummer, vice-president; C. F. Lillo, secretary, and E. A. Barker of Bemidji, treasurer. Graham M. Torrance is attorney for the company.

It is planned that construction of the plant shall begin immediately and that peat fuel made into briquettes will be placed on the market before winter. The dehydration process used in the drying of peat is the same as that used for the dehydration of milk. When the peat is dried it is an easy matter to briquette it as it contains its own binder.

The peat bog on which the plant is to be located is one of the best in this section. It will, according to experts, provide raw materials for the plant for many years and according to an analysis made by the University of Minnesota is an exceptionally high grade product. The analysis gives the peat the following qualities: Total moisture, 15.70; volatile matter 64.53; fixed carbon 24.40; ash 11.07; dry basis B T U 8, 525 as received B T U 7,187.

Those who have signed the articles of incorporation are C. F. Lillo, Lengby; Earle A. Barker, W. L. Brooks, H. E. Vance, W. R. Lalliberte, H. A. Krebs, W. F. Mittlestadt, Gilbert Finsand, L. T. Bjella, Carl Opsata, E. H. Marcum, E. O. Stewart and D. O. Mecklenburg of Bemidji. Others who are stockholders but who were not present at the meeting when the articles were signed are F. A. Plummer of Minneapolis, C. W. Jewett, Judge C. W. Stanton, Olaf F. Opsata, Otto Sorenson, Dr. E. H. Smith of Bemidji, E. J. Mettling of Minneapolis and Gilbert Tollefson of Bagley.

The plant to be erected at Bemidji will use what is known as the Plummer process, a dehydration process patented by F. A. Plummer of Minneapolis and the Bemidji corporation will have exclusive rights to this process. It is claimed that peat can be manufactured into fuel at an exceptionally low cost by using this process, which will make it a popular fuel as peat briquettes are said to contain practically the same heat units and other qualities as the best anthracite coal.

With the successful operation of a peat fuel plant here, thousands of acres of peat lands throughout the state that are now considered practically worthless will become valuable and the industry, providing a low priced fuel may be the means of large manufacturing plants being brought to this part of the state. Stockholders are enthusiastic over the prospects of the institution and predict a wonderful future for the industry.

LABOR DECLARATION CREATES A FURORE

Washington, Aug. 12.—The unexpected labor declarations of John W. Davis in opening the democratic presidential campaign caused a furore in political and labor circles here today.

His strong guarantees for fulfillment of practically all of labor's demands was viewed with astonishment by labor leaders.

Davis promised protection of the right of collective bargaining against court injunctions and abolition of child labor, the chief points for which labor is fighting. This stand, however, will not deter the American Federation of Labor in its wholehearted endorsement of the candidacy of Robert M. LaFollette, the United Press is informed officially.

Samuel Gompers, labor chieftain, will soon issue a statement declaring that Davis is at variance with the democratic platform as adopted by the New York convention and that the past record of the candidate "does not warrant the belief that a democratic administration would embrace labor's demands."

At the same time the Federation announced enlargement of its campaign committee which it states is preparing to fight with big guns in the campaign to elect independent LaFollette ticket and to elect candidates for Congress whose record warrants their support of labor."

Extinguishing a factory fire and then rekindling another one for the sake of putting it out a second time before an audience with the intent of being considered a hero for saving the Kincaid Piano Factory from destruction, is Leonard Beebe's idea of one of the only ways of attracting favorable attention to himself. Allen Loeb was on the stand less than two minutes and was not cross-examined by State's Attorney Crowe.

Foreman Leopold, brother of Nathan, then took the stand.

Foreman testified that Nathan, from the time he was a small boy, was intensely interested in churches of all descriptions.

"Tell me whether or not churches were a frequent subject of conversation with Nathan," Benjamin Bachrach, defense attorney, said.

"Yes, he talked about churches a lot," was the answer.

"Now tell what was the practice between your father and Nathan in respect to the spending of money from the time Nathan reached the age of 16."

"Nathan received an allowance of $125 a month," Foreman answered. "In addition to this he would get money whenever he wanted it to make trips and other things like that."

Nathan's brother testified that Nathan was given an automobile by his father, who also took care of its upkeep. He said Nathan's university tuition, and in fact everything he spent was paid by his millionaire father, Nathan Leopold, Sr., president of the Morris Paper Box company.

Foreman said his father agreed to supply the necessary $3,000 for a European trip.

This testimony was introduced by the defense to show that the desire for the $10,000 ransom was not the prime motive for the killing of Robert Franks.

SMALLPOX IS REPORTED NEAR

Dr. Joseph Nicholson Health Officer,
Gets Communication From State
Board of Health

CASE IN DEERWOOD TOWNSHIP

Value of Vaccination is Clearly
Emphasized and Records Are Quoted

Dr. Joseph Nicholson, health officer of the city of Brainerd, has received a communication from O. M. McDaniel, director of the Minnesota State Board of Health, stating that smallpox has recently been reported in Crow Wing county, in the township of Deerwood.

The communication states that up to August 1st, of this year, there have been 193 cases of malignant smallpox in Minnesota, with forty deaths. Of this number 149 were never successfully vaccinated, resulting in 34 deaths, and forty of the remaining cases were vaccinated over seven years ago, with the small death rate of six. In the four remaining cases in which the patients had been vaccinated in the last seven years, or had smallpox in childhood, there were no deaths reported, showing clearly the value of vaccination.

In addition to the cases recorded as due to the malignant strain of smallpox, infection between January 1st and August 1st, 1924 there were 1420 cases reported as non-malignant smallpox, in which there were eleven deaths among the unvaccinated patients.

Thousands have been vaccinated in the localities already invaded by malignant smallpox, the communication from Director McDaniel states, and for this reason the number of cases and deaths, although needlessly large, is still relatively small. In Detroit, Michigan, where malignant smallpox was introduced almost simultaneously with the appearance of the disease in Minnesota, up to July 1st there had been 1,508 cases with only 140 deaths.

Compulsory vaccination was abandoned in Minnesota in 1903, says Dr. Nicholson, and as a result a large percentage of our population is unvaccinated. Unless people become protected by vaccination a serious epidemic of smallpox may be expected, and this preventative should be used without waiting for an epidemic of smallpox to appear.

Overturned

Friends of Mrs. B. E. Dunham will be glad to learn that she is recovering nicely from the effects of the automobile accident of Sunday afternoon. Aside from numerous bruises about the body and a severe cut on one limb, there were no other injuries.

The accident occurred about two miles north of Nisswa. A number of automobile parties were returning from Backus, where they attended the ball game between the Brainerd Elks and the C. C. C. Rainbows.

Mr. Dupham in an effort to pass another car, got out on the shoulder of the road too far, the car struck a culvert, jumped some four or five feet, and landed in the ditch on its side.

Mrs. Dunham was thrown forcibly against the roof of the car. The other occupants were not injured, it is reported. The car received only minor damages for the force with which it was landed in the ditch, and was brought into Brainerd under its own power. Two fenders were broken, and the top mashed in one place.

CHAMBER COMMERCE MEETS WEDNESDAY

Delmer H. LaVoi to Speak on Northwestern Dairy Exposition Plans and Program

LARGE ATTENDANCE ASKED

Reports From Industrial Promotion
Committee, Dairy Sires, Athletic Park, Tax Committee, Etc.

The regular August meeting of the Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for Wednesday evening, and because of the fact that there is but one meeting per month, it is desired that a large attendance be on hand.

The Industrial Promotion committee is to report on the tourist park. Carl Wright is chairman of this committee and he has an interesting report to make on the work accomplished at the park, one of Brainerd's strong assets.

S. R. Adair will make the final report on the dairy sire matter, one of the major activities that the Chamber has successfully accomplished this season.

It is hoped that the committee in charge of Brainerd's new athletic park, only recently completed, will have its final report ready for Wednesday. The Northern Pacific railway company has cooperated with the Chamber in this project, and an athletic park has been constructed between the Northeast Brainerd Mill and the railway tracks, easily accessible from all parts of the city.

Delmer H. LaVoi, of the Northwestern Dairy Exposition committee has been secured to speak at the meeting on Wednesday night, and it is hoped that a goodly number of members will be present to hear him.

A. M. Opsahl will report on work of the tax committee, and the formation of the Crow Wing County Tax Reduction League.

and at the Cemetery

Charles E. Peabody, a former trustee of Brainerd Lodge of Elks, member of sick and relief committee, and the new building committee, who labored so long and faithfully in constructive work for the order, will be buried Wednesday afternoon, and the funeral services at the home, 214 North Seventh street, will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Elks will meet at Elks hall at 2:30 o'clock and march in a body to the home where the exercises, presided over by Exalted Ruler Dr. A. K. Cohen will be participated in by officers of the lodge and those assisting. At the grave in Evergreen cemetery the Elks ritual will also be carried out.

The pallbearers will be Mayor Con. O'Brien, Col. C. D. Johnson, Fred Allison, Claus Theorin, James Cullen, and R. J. Hartley.

ANOTHER DAM ON THE MISSISSIPPI

Rights for constructing a dam, which will take up all the water power between the dam at Sartel and Blanchard Rapids, were made public at Washington, D. C. last week. The site is a mile west of Rice on the Mississippi river at a point about seven miles south of Royalton.

Several surveys of the river and adjacent land have been made and as a result the dam will be located south of the Thomalla-Karrish site which was under consideration a few months ago. The lower site offers the greatest opportunity as a sharp descent in the river below will take care of the overflow of the dam which could not be had at the Thomalla-Karrish site three and a half miles south of Royalton.

According to reports, the equipment used by James O. Heyworth in construction of the Blanchard Rapids dam will be moved to the Rice location when the Blanchard Rapids dam is completed.

Announcement of the purchase of the St. Cloud Public Service company has also been made. The Public Service with its subsidiary companies operate electric light and power, gas and street railway properties in St. Cloud and supply light and power to Sauk Rapids, Monticello, Cold Spring, Richmond, Albany and Poley.

The St. Cloud property will be operated as a division of the Northern States Power company.

Ascalon Commandery, No. 16, of Brainerd, is making preparations to attend the second annual picnic of the Lake Region Templars Association, which is to be held on Friday, August 29th, at Alexandria.

This is the annual outing of the Knights Templar belonging to the association, and all Sir Knights and their families are invited to attend. Each family will provide its own lunch basket. Coffee, cream and sugar will be furnished free by the committee in charge.

A complete program of sports has been arranged and with an excellent bathing beach all are assured a most pleasant outing. All Knights are asked to meet the picnic committee at the Masonic temple in Alexandria not later than 11:30 o'clock on the morning of the picnic, and instructions will be given out for reaching the picnic grounds.

The Commanderies belonging to the Lake Region Templars Association include those of Brainerd, St. Cloud, Sauk Center, Fergus Falls, Morris and Alexandria.

Brainerd Knights and their families are asked to make a special effort to attend this outing and to help make it a big success. It has been suggested that the picnic next season be held at one of the lakes near Brainerd, or at Cinosam club on Gull lake.

How Your New Fall Garment Is Being Selected

We believe you will be interested in knowing how our garments are selected in New York by our Mr. Michael, who has been gone for nearly two weeks selecting our initial showings for fall. He sends the following which cannot but be of interest as it shows how carefully our garments are selected for you:

Let us take dresses as an example and this procedure is followed in all lines. There are about 2,000 dress manufacturers listed in the Ready-to-Wear directory in New York. The buyer at once has the problem of finding the manufacturers who manufacture the garments best suited to his trade for they are manufactured at all prices to sell from $5.00 to those selling in the hundreds. The question will be asked, why not go to the manufacturers you purchased of before and this question reveals a peculiarity of the women's ready-to-wear business which is scarcely duplicated in any other industry.

Style is the first element to be considered in the buying of women's garments. The style always depends upon the designer and as the designer is employed, a manufacturer's line varies as he changes his designers. One year the manufacturer may have a strong line. The next year it may be mediocre. So it becomes necessary that a buyer first learn the style trend and then search for that style where he can find it made the best at the most reasonable prices. This at once reveals the immensity of the task of the one who gets to New York but twice a year and seeks to select garments which he can recommend with confidence to those who depend upon the store he represents, for their garments.

The "resident buyer" is the present solution for the problem the retail buyer faces. This resident buyer is one who is thoroughly familiar with the New York ready-to-wear market. He has an office with a number of assistants.

When the new styles are offered for any season he sends these assistants out to look over the offerings of the various manufacturers whom he feels will supply what his clientele demands. The Resident Buyer who looks after our interests uses the plan of first cataloging the reports brought back by his assistants and wherever a manufacturer's line of garments is reported favorably as to style and price, he then details another to look it over to see if the line impresses another favorably. If it does then he goes personally and sees it. By the time the buyers arrive to make purchases this resident buyer has a knowledge of where to send them to find the best styles, the best materials and the best workmanship at the lowest prices.

When I arrived in New York our resident buyer gave me a long list of dress manufacturers he recommended. Some made cheap dresses; some medium priced; some higher priced; some stout dresses and in fact dresses for all purses and individuals. As there were a number of manufacturers recommended for each type of dresses I at once started to make the rounds and were it not that the industry is segregated, it would take many days to cover it. After looking the various lines over I made notations of the lines which struck me favorably and also noted how many I wanted to buy. Then this resident buyer accompanied me as I made the purchases.

Thus I had the advantage not only of his knowledge of the New York market but his knowledge of what to buy for the purchases of his office for his clients was over $2,000,000.00 last year.

This connection with this particular resident buyer's office is a new one having just made it this year and I am most delighted with the service given.

Not only has the service in style selecting been fine but I have been enabled to save many dollars in the purchase price which our customers will secure the benefit of.

I feel confident that we will offer the most acceptable line of ready-to-wear to our customers that we have ever offered.

I might add that I have given particular attention to those garments for women who wear sizes above 38 and to school girls' garments. I am anxious to display these garments. I am promised deliveries from August 15 to September 1. Let me add that I now understand why tourists travel hundreds of miles to get to our 10,000 lakes country in summer. The necessity of staying at the task is all that keeps one in this hot atmosphere which is hot night and day. I'll be happy when I can board the train for home.

Dr. Joseph Nicholson Health Officer,
Gets Communication From State
Board of Health

CASE IN DEERWOOD TOWNSHIP

Value of Vaccination is Clearly
Emphasized and Records Are
Quoted

Dr. Joseph Nicholson, health officer of the city of Brainerd, has received a communication from O. M. McDaniel, director of the Minnesota State Board of Health, stating that smallpox has recently been reported in Crow Wing county, in the township of Deerwood.

The communication states that up to August 1st, of this year, there have been 193 cases of malignant smallpox in Minnesota, with forty deaths. Of this number 149 were never successfully vaccinated, resulting in 34 deaths, and forty of the remaining cases were vaccinated over seven years ago, with the small death rate of six. In the four remaining cases in which the patients had been vaccinated in the last seven years, there were no deaths reported, showing clearly the value of vaccination.

In addition to the cases recorded as due to the malignant strain of smallpox, infection between January 1st and August 1st, 1924 there were 1420 cases reported as non-malignant smallpox, in which there were eleven deaths among the unvaccinated patients.

Thousands have been vaccinated in the localities already invaded by malignant smallpox, the communication from Director McDaniel states, and for this reason the number of cases and deaths, although needlessly large, is still relatively small. In Detroit, Michigan, where malignant smallpox was introduced almost simultaneously with the appearance of the disease in Minnesota, up to July 1st there had been 1,508 cases with only 140 deaths.

Compulsory vaccination was abandoned in Minnesota in 1903, says Dr. Nicholson, and as a result a large percentage of our population is unvaccinated. Unless people become protected by vaccination a serious epidemic of smallpox may be expected, and this preventative should be used without waiting for an epidemic of smallpox to appear.

Thus I had the advantage not only of his knowledge of the New York market but his knowledge of what to buy for the purchases of his office for his clients was over $2,000,000.00 last year.

This connection with this particular resident buyer's office is a new one having just made it this year and I am most delighted with the service given.

Not only has the service in style selecting been fine but I have been enabled to save many dollars in the purchase price which our customers will secure the benefit of.

I feel confident that we will offer the most acceptable line of ready-to-wear to our customers that we have ever offered.

I might add that I have given particular attention to those garments for women who wear sizes above 38 and to school girls' garments. I am anxious to display these garments. I am promised deliveries from August 15 to September 1. Let me add that I now understand why tourists travel hundreds of miles to get to our 10,000 lakes country in summer. The necessity of staying at the task is all that keeps one in this hot atmosphere which is hot night and day. I'll be happy when I can board the train for home.

WILLS FAVORED TO KEEP HER TENNIS TITLE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Back on her home turf after her Olympic victory at Paris, Miss Helen Wills, the 18-year-old California girl, started the defense of her American championship in the 39th annual championship contest here.

After her decisive victory over Mrs. Mallory in the national championship last summer and her easy triumph over the former champion at the Olympic games, it might seem that the Berkeley girl has little to do to retain her championship.

The field against her, however, while it lacks the international color of last year's tournament, is a strong one, and if the young champion has had too much hard early season tennis she may be pressed to repeat her 1923 victory.

Miss Wills rules the favorite in the dope, but Mrs. Mallory, the six times champion, and Miss Mary K. Browne, California, the champion of 1912, 1913 and 1914, are being given much consideration.

The poor showing made by Mrs. Mallory during the tournament in England and France caused some critics to believe that her game had cracked and she had finally passed the stage of a dangerous contender. She has been playing well, however, since she returned from France, and she has such a stout heart that she will be dangerous even after her game slips. Miss Browne gave up tennis several years ago and took up golf, at which she became almost as skilled as she had been for years on the courts. Her attempted comeback will be one of the most interesting features of the tournament.

Miss Marion Zinderstein Jessup, another former champion, is also in the field and there are other formidable players who have never reached the championship rating, including Miss Eleanor Goss, Miss Martha Bayard, Mrs. Ceres Baker Sackett, Miss Mayne MacDonald and Miss Edith Sigourney.

Miss Wills is to make her first appearance against Mrs. L. C. Beaupre, the good Canadian player, and it should be the best match of the day. Other feature matches scheduled for the center court are between Mrs. Mallory and Miss Caroma Winn, Miss Browne against Mrs. S. H. Waring, Miss Goss against Miss Marquerita Ginn and Miss Jessup against Mrs. Bronson Batchelor, Miss Wills and Mrs. George Wightman, the Olympic doubles champions, rule the field in the entries of the national doubles title.

SELECT SLUGGERS 33; N. P. STOREROOM 13

The Select Sluggers ran their string of consecutive victories to three last night, by defeating the N. P. Storeroom team at the Main street grounds, 33-13. The early innings were featured by heavy hitting, and fairly fast fielding. The Storeroom aggregation made three runs in the first inning. From then on until the fourth the teams played about on even terms, each running its score to ten. Then the Sluggers, living up to their name, started slamming the ball to all parts of the field. For a few minutes the shop team played loose ball in the field. The Storeroom came back in the seventh, getting three runs, ending their scoring. The game was called in the last half of the eighth on account of darkness.

The game was marred to some extent by continued haggling over the decisions of the umpires. Home runs were made by Dillan, W. Anderson and O'Brien, all of the Sluggers. Others doing consistent work with

THE QUALIFYING ROUNDS WERE PLAYED ON SATURDAY

The golf tournament held last Saturday and Sunday by the Brainerd Country club at its local links proved to be one of the most successful matches ever held by the club.

The qualifying rounds were played Saturday afternoon. The course was in first-class shape and the ten entrants shot the eighteen holes under the best of conditions. The results on the first eighteen holes were as follows:

	Gross	Handicap	Net
Bob Duer	101	32	69
Don Ryan	106	36	70
Joe Ryan	91	20	71
Walt Cleary	99	26	73
A. C. Weber	113	38	75
Clem Ryan	102	26	76
M. E. Ryan	116	38	78
C. G. Nordin	105	26	79
E. J. Egan	100	20	80
Rev. W. Remmes	96	12	84

The first four were the survivors, and this foursome played the final eighteen holes on Sunday beginning at two P. M. This match was closely contested throughout and the result was in doubt until the eighteenth hole was shot. The score on the final eighteen holes was as follows:

	Gross	Handicap	Net
Joe Ryan	86	19	67
Don Ryan	103	34	69
Bob Duer	100	29	71
Walt Cleary	105	27	78

The first prize was a fine golf bag donated by the club. The winner, Joe Ryan, a caddy at the links last year, came through with one of the best games of golf ever seen in a tournament at the local links and shot championship golf throughout. He collected six pars and one birdie on the final eighteen holes. An occurrence on the seventh green, when the winner's ball struck the club of another player, will necessitate a ruling by the tournament committee, which will be given as soon as possible, and which may make the result a tie between Joe and Don Ryan.

The ladies' contest resulted in Mrs. Egan winning with a net total of 66, and Mrs. Nordin second with a net of 71. Golf balls were awarded as prizes in this match as also in the ladies' putting contest which was captured by Mrs. Krekelberg.

A large crowd was at hand both days to witness the play and many declared it to be as entertaining as a good ball game.

Other prizes awarded were Brunswick phonograph records donated through the courtesy of the Northern Home Furnishing Company. These records consist of a series of instructions on how to play golf by some of the leading golfers of the country. These records were awarded to A. C. Weber for coming nearest to his handicap outside of the survivors; to C. G. Nordin for having the most pars on the first round; and to Don Ryan for coming nearest to his handicap of those surviving the first round.

WIN THEIR NINTH CONSECUTIVE VICTORY ON SATURDAY

The Northeast Badgers walked off the field on Saturday with their ninth consecutive victory, beating the Thon Tigers by a close score, 13 to 12. Battery for the Badgers: Marshall and Montgomery; for the Tigers: Elling and Thon.

On Friday night the Badgers whipped the Lively nine by a score of 11 to 2. Guinn and Hively constituted the battery for the losers.

On Thursday evening the Rofidal team was taken into camp by the Badgers by a score of 9 to 0.

The Badgers have taken the bit in their teeth and refuse to be beaten. The team is challenging all comers.

RUTH A TOWER OF STRENGTH

Says Louis Gallop, pinch hitting for Ed L. Shave in the St. Paul Daily News:

Whatever success the Yanks may have this season will be due to the great work of Babe Ruth. For the first time in 19 games Ruth went hitless Sunday, but he sure has been playing the game this season. He is a far better base runner, fielder and hitter than he was last year. He is leading the league in individual batting. He has scored more runs than any other player in the league and has batted in more runs than any other man in the American loop. He has 38 home runs to his credit to date. He is just four behind his mark of 1921, when he set the world's record of 59 circuit wallopers.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Back on her home turf after her Olympic victory at Paris, Miss Helen Wills, the 18-year-old California girl, started the defense of her American championship in the 39th annual championship contest here.

After her decisive victory over Mrs. Mallory in the national championship last summer and her easy triumph over the former champion at the Olympic games, it might seem that the Berkeley girl has little to do to retain her championship.

The field against her, however, while it lacks the international color of last year's tournament, is a strong one, and if the young champion has had too much hard early season tennis she may be pressed to repeat her 1923 victory.

Miss Wills rules the favorite in the dope, but Mrs. Mallory, the six times champion, and Miss Mary K. Browne, California, the champion of 1912, 1913 and 1914, are being given much consideration.

The poor showing made by Mrs. Mallory during the tournament in England and France caused some critics to believe that her game had cracked and she had finally passed the stage of a dangerous contender. She has been playing well, however, since she returned from France, and she has such a stout heart that she will be dangerous even after her game slips. Miss Browne gave up tennis several years ago and took up golf, at which she became almost as skilled as she had been for years on the courts. Her attempted comeback will be one of the most interesting features of the tournament.

Miss Marion Zinderstein Jessup, another former champion, is also in the field and there are other formidable players who have never reached the championship rating, including Miss Eleanor Goss, Miss Martha Bayard, Mrs. Ceres Baker Sackett, Miss Mayne MacDonald and Miss Edith Sigourney.

Miss Wills is to make her first appearance against Mrs. L. C. Beaupre, the good Canadian player, and it should be the best match of the day. Other feature matches scheduled for the center court are between Mrs. Mallory and Miss Caroma Winn, Miss Browne against Mrs. S. H. Waring, Miss Goss against Miss Marquerita Ginn and Miss Jessup against Mrs. Bronson Batchelor. Miss Wills and Mrs. George Wightman, the Olympic doubles champions, rule the field in the entries of the national doubles title.

GOLF PLAY
PROVES HUGE SUCCESS, 2 DAYS

JOE RYAN TAKES FIRST PLACE
WITH A NET
67

THE QUALIFYING ROUNDS WERE PLAYED ON SATUR-
DAY

The golf tournament held last Saturday and Sunday by the Brainerd Country club at its local links proved to be one of the most successful matches ever held by the club.

The qualifying rounds were played Saturday afternoon. The course was in first-class shape and the ten entrants shot the eighteen holes under the best of conditions. The results on the first eighteen holes were as follows:

	Gross	Handicap	Net
Bob Duer	101	32	69
Don Ryan	106	36	70
Joe Ryan	91	20	71
Walt Cleary	99	26	73
A. C. Weber	113	38	75
Clem Ryan	102	26	76
M. E. Ryan	116	38	78
C. G. Nordin	105	26	79
E. J. Egan	100	20	80
Rev. W. Remmes	96	12	84

The first four were the survivors, and this foursome played the final eighteen holes on Sunday beginning at two P. M. This match was closely contested throughout and the result was in doubt until the eighteenth hole was shot. The score on the final eighteen holes was as follows:

	Gross	Handicap	Net
Joe Ryan	86	19	67
Don Ryan	103	34	69
Bob Duer	100	29	71
Walt Cleary	105	27	78

The first prize was a fine golf bag donated by the club. The winner, Joe Ryan, a caddy at the links last year, came through with one of the best games of golf ever seen in a tournament at the local links and shot championship golf throughout.

He collected six pars and one birdie on the final eighteen holes. An occurrence on the seventh green, when the winner's ball struck the club of another player, will necessitate a ruling by the tournament committee, which will be given as soon as possible, and which may make the result a tie between Joe and Don Ryan.

The ladies' contest resulted in Mrs. Egan winning with a net total of 66, and Mrs. Nordin second with a net of 71. Golf balls were awarded as prizes in this match as also in the ladies' putting contest which was captured by Mrs. Kregelberg.

A large crowd was at hand both days to witness the play and many declared it to be as entertaining as a good ball game.

Other prizes awarded were Brunswick phonograph records donated through the courtesy of the Northern Home Furnishing Company. These records consist of a series of instructions on how to play golf by some of the leading golfers of the country. These records were awarded to A. C. Weber for coming nearest to his handicap outside of the survivors; to C. G. Nordin for having the most pars on the first round; and to Don Ryan for coming nearest to his handicap of those surviving the first round.

Call the Ambulance
"You can't hit a nail on the head," laughed Mr. Grouch, who was watching his wife trying to wield the hammer.

"No," she snapped: "but I can a fool husband."

And she could—and did.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Helen Wainwright and Aileen Riffin, Who Helped
Uncle Sam Win Olympiad, Back Home From France

New York City gave America's conquering heroes of the Olympic Games a rousing welcome. When the 279 returning athletes and Olympic officials left their ship they were received by city officials and marched to City Hall where Mayor Hylan gave each athlete a medal on behalf of the city. Two of the pretty mermaids who added their share to the American point total and who attracted much attention on their return were Miss Wainwright and Miss Riffin.

N. S. CUBS 11
BEAR CATS 6

CUBS MAKE THEIR THIRD CON-SECUTIVE WINNING ON TUESDAY

The Northside Cubs made their third consecutive winning on Tuesday morning, by defeating the Bearcats by a score of 11 to 6. A rally in the first inning won the game for the Cubs, who herded in six runs. The Bearcats got their runs off and on throughout the game. Both pitchers had good support and exercised wonderful control of their ball.

The lineup for the vanquished was A. Miller, c; Boyd and Swanson, p; G. Miller, 1b; Cossette, 2b; Boyd and Swanson, ss; Gabau, 3b; Anderson, lf; McCaffery, rf.

The lineup for the victors: M. Schubert, c; H. Olson, p; Fuller, 1b; Brown, 2b; C. Schubert, ss; Larson, 3b; Bush, lf; A. Olson, cf, and Kimball, rf. Umpires were White and Viken.

SELECT SLUGGERS 33;
N. P. STOREROOM 13

The Select Sluggers ran their string of consecutive victories to three last night, by defeating the N. P. Storeroom team at the Main street grounds, 33-13. The early innings were featured by heavy hitting, and fairly fast fielding. The Storeroom aggregation made three runs in the first inning. From then on until the fourth the teams played about on even terms, each running its score to ten. Then the Sluggers, living up to their name, started slamming the ball to all parts of the field. For a few minutes the shop team played loose ball in the field. The Storeroom came back in the seventh, getting three runs, ending their scoring. The game was called in the last half of the eighth on account of darkness.

The game was marred to some extent by continued haggling over the decisions of the umpires. Home runs were made by Dillan, W. Anderson and O'Brien, all of the Sluggers. Others doing consistent work with the willow were Prickett, Ericsson and Orth of the Sluggers.

The Sluggers' next game will be with the Service Motor Co. on Wednesday, Aug. 13, and with the N. P. Scrap Docks on Thursday, Aug. 14. Both games will be played at the Main Street grounds at the regular time, 6:30 P. M.

N. E. BADGERS 13
THON TIGERS 12

WIN THEIR NINTH CONSECUTIVE VICTORY ON SATUR-
DAY

The Northeast Badgers walked off the field on Saturday with their ninth consecutive victory, beating the Thon Tigers by a close score, 13 to 12. Battery for the Badgers: Marshall and Montgomery; for the Tigers: Elling and Thon.

On Friday night the Badgers whipped the lively nine by a score of 11 to 2. Guinn and Hively constituted the battery for the losers.

On Thursday evening the Redial team was taken into camp by the Badgers by a score of 9 to 0.

The Badgers have taken the bit in their teeth and refuse to be beaten. The team is challenging all comers.

RUTH A TOWER
OF STRENGTH

Says Louis Gallop, pinch hitting for Ed L. Shave in the St. Paul Daily News:

Whatever success the Yanks may have this season will be due to the great work of Babe Ruth. For the first time in 19 games Ruth went hitless Sunday, but he sure has been playing the game this season. He is a far better base runner, fielder and hitter than he was last year. He is leading the league in individual batting. He has scored more runs than any other player in the league and has batted in more runs than any other man in the American loop. He has 38 home runs to his credit to date. He is just four behind his mark of 1921, when he set the world's record of 59 circuit wallops.
